A Very Pleasant Reauton.

(For the Dispatch.)

Will the Dispatch permit a delighted participant to give a brief outline of a most enjoyable reunion of old Confederates, which took place on Friday and Saturday last? The survivors of Company K, Thirty-fourth Virginia Infantry, offered an excursion on the steamer Elm City to the members of their own organisation and the other old soldiers, their children, and friends. The party left Walkerton in the morning, and picking up additions at several landings, reached

West Point about 11 o'clock. Here some of the John R. Cook Camp and a few other old comrades joined them. We set out for Gloucester Point, and, reaching there, were met by the Page-Puller Camp. We were joyfully greeted, some good speeches were made, and we were feasted on the best that this section of the country affords—fish, oysters, vegetables, and fruits.

The boat stopped at the wharf all night, and those of the party who were camped there in 18il located the sites of their aboles and recalled many memories. Before day we started for the celebrated of the poquosin river, to beat the record of a party who caught over a thousand fish there a week or two before. We caught a good many fish, but did not equal the other crowd, and had to content ourselves with having twice as good a time as was possible for them to have had as was possible for them to have as the form to have had as the form to have had as the form to have

FIRE AT PORTSMOUTH. A Large Dry-Kiln Burned-The

NORFOLK, VA., September 2.-(Spectal.)-This morning a few minutes after Il o'clock fire was discovered in the large drying-kiln of the Portsmouth Lumber Company, situated on Gosport bridge, and in an instant almost the entire building was a mass of flames, with immense clouds of black smoke pouring from them. It was some time before an alarm was sound d to bring out the fire department, and when the engines got to work the and when the engines got to work the flames had gained such headway that the flames had gained such headway that the building could not be saved. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark from the mill stack blowing into a ven-tilator on the roof of the kiln. The pro-perty was leased to Mr. W. W. Bobert-son, of Berkley, who had 15,000 feet of manufactured lumber in the kiln, valued at $1,400. On this was an insurance of $1,000.

John C. Emmerson, and others, will lose $4,000, on which there was no insurance. Mrs. J. W. Spagat, wife of Mr. J. W. Spagat, a well-known cothing merchant, died here Sunday night after a short illness. She was 47 years old and leaves three children.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Quickness and Presence of Mind of a Colored Boy.

BEDFORD CITY, VA., September 2 .-(Special.)—Sunday morning while Mrs. J. F. Spencer and her guest, Miss Ophelia Berry, of Richmond, were driving church, as they approached the bridge that spans the deep cut through which that spans the deep to the horse became frightened at the noise of an approaching train, and, instead of going over the bridge, shied violently to the right. The horse was just on the verge of the deep precipice, and one step more and the death of the ladies would have been indeath of the ladies would have been in-evitable. But at the moment the horse turned slightly to one side, and a colored youth, named Jim Otey, sprang forward and caught the animal and drew him from the dangerous position. He then assisted the ladies from the buggy. Many servens who witnessed the scene were
